DIRECTOR

FOR 1885.

PUBLISHED BY

J. C. DUFFY,

AT THE ASPEN TIMES OFFICE,
JANUARY 1, 1885.

INTRODUCTORY.

In presenting to the people of Aspen their first directory, I feel that my work is very inadequate to the needs of our beautiful and prosperous camp ; but a first directory is always the most difficult; though owing to the liberal support of the merchants and the courtesy of all, I have been enabled to prepare this little volume, containing the names and address of about 800 permanent residents, which is a fair proportion out of a population of 3,000.

The prosperity of our little city, at the present time is wonderful. There are some 65 business houses in Aspen, using a combined capital aggregating over a half-million of dollars.

The mines, the basis of our prosperity are producing well. The Spar, Washington, Vallejo, Emma and Aspen, situate on Aspen mountain, a half-mile south of the town ; the Durant, Chloride and Camp Bird, on the same mountain a half-mile farther up, are the principal producers to the south of Aspen, though there are several other claims that have and are producing more or less mineral. To the north of town about a half-mile, on Smuggler hill, lies the Smuggler, and Smuggler 2, while there are some 25 or 30 good properties in the vicinity that only need development to make mines. The combined output of the mines is estimated at fully $500,000 per month. Thanking all for the kind and liberal patronage, I am yours truly,

J. C. DUFFY.

BUSINESS MAXIMS AND RULES.

A sacred regard for the principles of justice forms the basis of every transaction, and regulates the conduct of the upright man of business.

He is strict in keeping his engagements.

He does nothing carelessly or in a hurry.

Employs nobody to do what he can easily do himself.

Keeps his designs and business from the view of others, yet is candid with all.

Prefers short credit to long, and cash to credit at all times.

Leaves nothing of consequence to memory which he can and ought to commit to writing.

He is clear and explicit in his bargains.

Is always at the head of his business, well knowing that if he leaves it it will leave him.

Holds it as a maxim that he whose credit is suspected is not to be trusted.

Avoids as much as possible all business transactions and law suits where there is the least hazard.

Is economical in his expenditures, always living within his income.

Is cautious about going security for any one.

Is generous when urged by motives of humanity.

RULES FOR CONDUCTING BUSINESS.

Enter in a business of which you have a perfect knowledge.

On no account venture on a credit business at the commencement of your business career.

Keep your credit good, and use it sparingly and discreetly.

Purchase goods for cash; take every advantage of the discounts which nearly all business men offer for cash payments.

Buy from those whom previous transactions have proven to be strictly just; avoid all others, even at a temporary disadvantage.

Never equivocate, misrepresent, or take advantage of a customer's ignorance.

Never give a check to a stranger; it is liable to be tampered with.

Advertise judiciously. The best plan is to lay aside a certain percentage for printing and advertising. Keep yourself constantly before the public by judicious advertising. Let them be short, spicy, attractive and properly displayed; truthful and free from bombast.

Learn to say "No" with decision, "Yes" with caution—
"No" with decision whenever it resists temptation; "Yes" with caution when it implies a promise. A promise once given is a bond inviolable.

PERSONS needing the services of live and experienced agents will do well to leave their property in our hands to let or sell, as we have the largest demand and most central location.

PERSONS desiring to rent or purchase should give us a call before going elsewhere, as we have the largest list of city property, and always take pleasure in showing the same.

PERSONS having good mining property to sell or bond, should leave the same in our hands. We have some Scotch and English capitalists who are willing to pay a liberal price for the right thing.
